LIABILITIES ARE SMALL

TOO MUCH SPECULATION.

New York, Doc. 29.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say in tomorrow's issue: No correct report of failures in less can be made of speculation in copper stocks has swelled the aggregate at Boscon alone over $18,000.000 within a few days, and might yet add to the record. The failures thus far reported are fewer in number than in any year since 1833, and emailer in amount of commercial liabilities than in any year since 1831. The aggregate of defaulted Habilities $120,180,000, but mearly two-thirds of the banking Habilities were added within a few days, the aggregate reaching about $30,900,000. The commercial liabilities have been about $30,200,000, though exact returns for a few recent failures are not yet obtainable. In no other years except 1881, with defaulted habilities of $81,155,922, and 1850 with $36,752,000 have failures been as small since the agency commenced quatterly returns in 1875. The ayerage of habilities per failure is less than $9,500; the smallest in any year of the twenty-flye, a gratifying evidence that commercial liabilities are further removed than usual from the point of danger. until the year has closed. A collapse commercial institutes are factors and than usual from the point of danger.

The week has been exciting only at Boston, where the failures growing out of speculation and the efforts to recreatablish banks and firms suspended have not given the week a holiday character. Yet general business is thoroughly safe and prosperous, and no important firms have fasled save some which were individually connected with concerns involved in speculation. The speculative troubles come because the volume of legitimate business and the unprecedented distribution of profits, interest and dividends, made it no longer positible to carry some stocks on borrowed money. Prosperity, itself, placed a check en speculative ventures.

Wheat and cotton speculation has taken a holiday, prices scarcely varying, and the movement of both is surprisingly small. Atlantic exports of wheat, flour included, have in four weeks, been only $.275,618 busingle, and Facific exports $.314,271, against, $.356,808. The corn exports continued about an large as less year, but cotten exports this month have been less than half last year's with some decrements on takings of spinners. Accommissed stocks in mills and markets both here and abroad are so large that there is no haste to pay the prices asked.

The industries are closing the most extraordinary year of their history. Long established branches have undersome a verifiable reconstruction, vasily ingreasing their capacity, while new industries which scarcely existed a year or two ago have entired a vascapital, altered mode of business and production in almost every direction and improved conditions for the future at most beyond calculation. Electrical developments in light, heat and power, in making cataract work, performing wonders in production of materials and providing transportation all over the land, deserve especial actention. For such reconstruction the increase in demand for iron and steel products is the great feature of the year.

With 415.733 toms unsoid and 245.56 produced weekly, Jan. 1, hindered by severe weather so that the output, March 1 dropped 15,000 tons, but expanding in every month afterwards the industry is now producing about 500,000 tons weekly and unstill escoke are reduced to 122,522 tons and yet orders unfilled will require six to nake manshes work from most of the establishments. Prices have not changed the past week, though demand for some products improved a little for the past week, though demand for some products improved a little. The affair was a very pleasant one, commamorating the close of the most successful sugar factory season. Each participant wore a neat white badge bearing the emblem of a sugar beet, together with the date and the words "Sugar Social Campaign of 1892. About 140 people were present.

Secretary Rolapp presided and made a brief opening address, and introduced Hen. David Eccles, president of the sugar company, who spoke of the achievements of the factory, recalling the fact that just exactly two years ago he, together with Mr. Clark, started for California to inspect the factory there and see what could be done toward getting one for Ogden. At that time no money had been paid. Since them the factory had been built and expecienced two successful seasons.

Mr. Eccles was followed by Vice President Dec. Director Spencer, Manager Flygare and Foreman Anderson.

Muss Eccles and Master Washburn gave recitations, and then came an incident not down on the programme, when Engineer J. J. Malone stepped forward and in a brief speech presented Fergare Dyer, superintendent of the factory, with a handsome set of drawing instruments on behalf of the employees. Mr. Dyer was taken by surprise, but made a brief response, saying that in twenty years of sugar factory work he had never found better crews than in the Ogden factory.

Then came the grand march. President and Mrs. Eccles held the positions of honor, and were followed by the other officers of the company. Officers and omployers almost without exception danced until midnight.

A telegram was read during the evening from the Utah Sugar company, expressing regret that employees of that concern were unable to be present. Two visitors from out of townwere J. E. Hyde from Baker City, Ore, brother of Editor Hyde of the Logan Nation, and P. J. O'Brien, weighmaster at Layton.

At the conclusion the council and their guests visited the fire station, where the laddies made an exhibition run to the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Grant avenue for the ediffication of the solons.

During the business session which preceded the speeches, the council cleared up all unfinished business, disposing of a great many matters of routine work.

On a report of a special committee $200 was appropriated to the widow of the late Captain Brown, killed while trying to airrest the Majors boys.

The city recorder reported a number of warrants which had been uncalled for, and Brewer moved that this list be published, but Woolley objected on the grounds that the papers would publish them annyay and that the city would best save the advertising money, Woolley's motion prevailed.
